In Waterloo, Ontario, 86 cases have been reported in six months, compared to typically five to six per year, says doctor Daniel Nagase.

Stillbirths in fully vaccinated women are exploding in Canada. For example, in Waterloo, Ontario, 86 cases have been reported in six months, compared to typically five to six per year, says doctor Daniel Nagase. “That is highly unusual.”

At Lions Gate Hospital in Vancouver, British Columbia, 13 stillbirths were recorded over 24 hours, reported the doctor. Until recently, Dr. Nagase worked at an Alberta hospital but said he was fired after treating three covid patients with ivermectin at the Rimbey Hospital and Care Centre.

‘Vaccine’ Disinformation

Vancouver Coastal Health dismisses stillbirth claims as “rumors” and “disinformation.” However, bright Light News writes that the cases are being swept under the carpet by the government and health agencies.

As reported previously at RAIR Foundation USA, comments like these are “shockingly irresponsible considering that both the U.K. and the U.S. Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System documented numerous vaccine-related adverse events for pregnant women.

Prominent Virologist Dr. Sucharit Bhakdi warned pregnant women against the jab,

The vaccine package insert from Biotech even says that pregnant women aren’t allowed to be vaccinated because vaccine injury cannot be ruled out. And if a young woman decides to get vaccinated, she should avoid becoming pregnant for two months.

Furthermore, a recent report regarding the World Health Organization’s database, over 2 million adverse reactions to the jab have been reported in 2021 alone, with effects including stillbirth, vaginal hemorrhaging, myocarditis, brain neoplasms (tumors), spontaneous abortion, pulmonary embolism, renal failure, and hundreds of others.

Vaccine Propaganda Campaigns Lead To Fatal Result

On Sunday, a Twitter user posted that her grandson was stillborn at the Lions Gate after 8 1/2 months of pregnancy.

“My daughter got that damned poison vaccine one month ago because she couldn’t go to a restaurant, and people were freaking out because that she was unvaxxed. I want to sue the government.”

The woman later removed her tweet and wrote the following message:

The government's discriminatory policies towards the unvaccinated are being compared to those of Jews during the Second World War. The same pattern of slow, systematic exclusion of people mimics the experiences of many from a period that is among the darkest times of our history.

Without scientific justification, leaders worldwide are pressuring people to get jabbed by claiming that the virus is now a pandemic of the unvaccinated. Yet, as reported by RAI, totalitarian regimes responsible for the most horrific atrocities in history also “demonized, ostracized, and socially eradicated” individuals.

Daniel Trappe, a retired Senior Public Prosecutor in Germany and the son of Auschwitz survivors, warned against scapegoating those unwilling to receive the experimental gene-therapy injection:

I stand here as a Jew, as the son of an Auschwitz survivor. I don't want to draw a parallel, but at the end of the 1920s, there was a slogan in Germany: 'The Jews are to blame for everything.'

Now the unvaccinated are the scapegoats. That's why we must fight so that something like this never causes division again!
